Last Week's Speaker

Last week's speaker was Craig Parker from Essendon Mazda. Craig talked to us about future trends and developments with motor vehicles.

The two big areas of development at the moment are safety and environmental impact, with the electric car getting most of the attention. Interestingly, (according to industry sources) an electric vehicle needs to do over 100,000kms before it has less environmental impact than the current cars.

Craig believes plug-in hybrids are a great alternative, giving great economy and having the ability the go long distances.

So, where to in the longer term?

Possibly hydrogen cars or maybe large drones, similar to the Jetsons.

What's on this week

This week is our AGM, the first "face to face" in person AGM for a couple of years. Come along and hear how we are tracking for the year, where we're headed, and who will be guiding us next year.

I asked a wise man,

"Tell me sir, in which field could I make a great career?"

He said with a smile,

"Be a good human being. There is a lot of opportunity in this area, and very little competition.

From the Joker,

- 1. Sol's Marriage Tip #3. If your wife says "Do want ever you want", under no circumstances do you do as you want.
- 2. I asked my wife why she married me. She answered, "because you're funny." I thought it was because I was good in bed. She replied "You see you're hilarious"
- 3. The other day my friend and I laughed about how competitive we are. I laughed the hardest.

Message from the past - I used this last time I was President!
